ENROLLMENT FIGURES SHOW THE REPUBLICANS STRONG IN COUNTY

Registration Tabulation Just Completed Give G. O. P. Total of 11,-140 Votes

SURPRISE IN CHARLEROI

Republican Vote Will be Heavy---Washington Party Vote Will be Light--"No Choice" 551

Republicans will be particularly strong in the county and in the borough at the primaries a week from tomorrow. The county commissioners have just completed the tabulation of the party enrollment returns and registry assessment of the voters of Washington county, including all the precincts except those of the city of Monongahela, which has personal registration and which will not be completed until September 13.

Some surprises are shown. The registration shows there are 2,022 votes in Charleroi, though there are 551 of these who will hardly be given a chance to vote for anything except the candidates for judge of the superior court. In their registration their party preference is given as "no choice."

In this borough there are 844 Republicans and 443 Democrats, while the Washington party, which was thought strong, shows a total registration in the six precincts of only 133. Socialists registered number 12 and Prohibitionists 9. The following is a table showing the registration by precincts. In the table R is for Republican, D for Democrat, W. for Washington and so forth. Nc is for no choice.

	R	D	W	S	P	Nc
Charleroi 1st	237	130	34	2	1	103
Charleroi 2nd	135	77	30	3	1	60
Charleroi 3rd	80	40	16	15	4	67
Charleroi 4th	245	91	12	9		77
Charleroi 5th	78	51	20	4	1	142
Charleroi 6th	69	54	21	9	2	102
Total	844	443	133	42	9	551

Not counting the "no choice" voters there are 1,471 voters registered by party. However it is generally expected that the borough vote will be light in spite of the fact that there will be some hot fights on.

With the exceptions noted at Monongahela the total county registration is 29,025 and with the missing ones in the total will run over 30,000 or about double the vote which is usually polled at an off year election.

The Republicans have a total enrollment of 11,140, the Democrats of 5,687 the Washington party of 2,-049, the Socialists of 1,201, the Prohibitionists of 265, while 8,683 failed to designate any choice. All the party leaders claim to be satisfied with the result of theenrollment.

The Republican leaders say that it marks a return of the voters to the old party. The Democratic registered about the average vote cast for the party's candidates at the last election, which is good. The Washington party vote is about 40 per cent of the vote cast for the different candidates on its ticket last fall. The Socialists enrolled about 50 per cent and the Prohibitionists from 33 to 50 per cent.

FREE METHODISTS OPEN CAMPMEETING

Good Sized Crowd Present at First Session at Playgrounds---Rev. A. D. Zahnizer Preaches First Sermon Sunday Afternoon

A good attendance marked the two opening sessions of the Free Methodist Evangelistic services on Sunday. The large tent erected at the Charleroi Playgrounds, in Crest avenue, was well filled at both the afternoon and evening sessions and those who attended heard two excellent sermons.

Rev. A. D. Zahnizer, conference evangelist of the Free Methodist denomination is in charge of the services and will occupy the pulpit each evening unless otherwise arranged. He comes to Charleroi well prepared to take charge of the exercises and his initial appearance was most pleasing. At the Sunday evening service he preached on "The Great Salvation" taking his text from Hebrew" how shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation."

The services are under the direction of the congregation of the Free Methodist church at Belle Verron of which Rev. R. N. Large is pastor. There is no church of this denomination in Charleroi and thus this place is within the pastorial district of the Belle Vernon church. The evangelistic services were arranged for Charleroi owing to the fact that it is centrally located and that there is a broad field here in which to work. A cordial invitation to the pastors and members of the various other churches i sextended to attend the meetings.

Services will be held in the tent each evening at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

FAMOUS PLAYERS BOOKED FOR COYLE DURING OCTOBER

Manager R. S. Coyle of the Coyle theatre has secured the booking of the Famous Players' picture "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" in which Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske,one of America's most gifted actresses, will appear. The play is one of Mrs. Fiske's greatest successes. The dates for the production of the Famous Players' film will be October 6 and 7, two days.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is being produced for motion pictures under the direction of Daniel Frohman, and the production is most pretentious and elaborate. The story "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is one of the most heart interest stories ever told either in stage or moving picture drama, having to do with real life. The story is a presentation of a woman's pitiful career, an immortal epic of sorrow.

The Famous Players' Film company is producing a number of dramas by some of the world's most famous actresses, and that to be presented at the Coyle is only one of several.

CONEY ISLAND SHOWS COMING AS A BENEFIT

With ten attractions, including a balloon ascension and what is described a death-defying cycle whirl, the Coney Island shows will open today on the carnival grounds at the opposite end of the Monessen-Charleroi bridge, for the benefit of the North Charleroi Fire department. The show is owned and conducted by Walter Rockwell, of North Charleroi,who is an experienced carnival man, and Santalucia, an Italian, who is the bandmaster and who has charge of some of the productions. The shows are all carefully picked for their attractiveness.

The paid attractions will be Fowler's Animal show, which will include exhibitions of all kinds of animals, including freaks and deformed animals; the old plantation; Snyder's vaudeville show; Fowler's snake show; Santalucia's jumping horse carousal and Rockwell's ferris wheel.

There will be a woman balloonist who will make ascensions every evening at 6:30 o'clock. She is known as Millie Reno. The balloon that she will use has never been used before.

The cycler who will perform the cycle whirl is known as Dare Devil Speedo. His act is one of the latest and one of the best. He performs in a saucer shaped track.

Walter Rockwell is the manager of the company. They will exhibit all week at the Rostraver grounds and then will leave on an extensive trip. There are about 100 people connected with the company, and every show, according to Mr. Rockwell, is a clean show.

The band is the Royal Italian band composed of about a dozen pieces. All the members of the band are real musicians.

FOX GIRL TELLS OF TRAGEDY

Rices Landing 12-Year Old Didn't Know She Was Hurt

THOMAS QUARRELSOME

Bertha Fox, the 12-year-old victim of the Rices Landing tragedy in the Oliver Price homestead on the night of September 1, which cost the life of her grandmother, Mrs. Oliver Price and resulted in the girl being terribly injured about the head, gave the first authentic statement of the tragedy, Sunday as she lay on her bed in the West Penn Hospital, where according now to the doctors, she has a favorable chance for recovery. The child is racked with severe headaches and it is only at intervals that she is able to think and speak clearly.

"Grandpa left the night before with papa," she said. "He went over to his house to spend the night, so he could take the first train to Pittsburg in the morning. Grandma and I were alone except Walter Thomas, our hired man. Grandma and I slept in one bed and Walter slept in another room.

"When I awoke in the morning I laid in bed for a while with my eyes shut. Then I pushed gradma so she would awake to button my dress for school. She did not move and when I looked at her she was covered with blood. I knew then she was dead. I crawled over her and ran out into the yard to get Fanny, my horse and tell papa what had happened. I couldn't find her. Then I ran back into the house where grandma was and saw that the bed quilt was burning. There was a lamp under the bed and I guess when I crawled over grandma I was in such a hurry that I upset it. I put the fire out with my hands and then ran out into the yard again. I couldn't see Thomas any place.

"Then I met Jennie Black and Cal Long coming along the road by the house. They live about a mile away and I told them that grandma had been killed. They told me I was hurt but I said that was the blood from grandma. They started to run home to telephone and tell papa and mamma what had happened. I lay down on the ground and I guess I fell asleep for I didn't remember anything until I saw papa bending over me and then he was taking me to the station. He told me I was hurt."

When asked whether Thomas the hired man, hit her, Bertha said. "I don't know, because I didn't know I was hurt and nobody was around at the time. Thomas used to get mad at times. He didn't like me. Thomas was mad the night before because I couldn't help milk the cows. Thomas milked two cows and I milked the other one. My fingers were worn to the quick and I couldn't milk my cow that night and Thomas got mad. Grandpa told him he would have to milk the three cows and that made him worse."

Mrs. V. P. Stewart will show a distinctive line of fall hats at her Millinery opening Saturday September 13th, 417 Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, Pa. 47-t4

Armory Work Progressing

New Monongahela Structure to be Ready Soon For Occupancy

The work on the new state armory at Monongahela is rapidly nearing completion and within a few weeks the last task will be done and the handsome structure will be ready for occupancy by Monongahela's citizen soldiery. On Wednesday of last week General A. J. Logan of Pittsburg, chairman of the state armory board visited Monongahela and went over the building. His visit resulted in an extra number of men being put to work on the job and all is now activity in that section. The new armory is a model structure in every respect and is a fitting appreciation of the military organization representing the sister town.

CHURCH OBSERVE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

With Bishop Thomas B. Neely, of Philadelphia, in the pulpit, the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Belle Vernon Methodist Episcopal church was celebrated on Sunday. The services were appropriate for the occasion.

Five years ago the handsome $30,-000 house of worship was dedicated with imposing ceremonies, Bishop John F. Berry, of Buffalo, N. Y., preaching the dedicatory sermon. Since that time the congregation has labored long and earnestly to wipe out the church debt and so successful has been their effort that all that remained yesterday of the mortgage on the church and parsonage properties was $5,000. At the services Sunday $4,200 of this amount was subscribed and it is expected by the end of the present week to wipe out the entire mortgage leaving both properties free from all encumbrance.

Rev. R. B. Mansell, D. D. is the pastor of the church.

Surprising Attendance Noted at Opening of School

CROWDING NECESSARY

Sixty Pupils Enroll as Students in the New Commercial Department

With two hundred enrolled the first day and prospects of quite a number yet to come, the high school department of the Charleroi public schools has surpassed all previous records for attendance opening today under the most favorable auspices. The new commercial course which is being inaugurated this year is the cause of the extraordinary enrollment, there being about 60 pupils who entered this morning to take this course. Last year the high school was something over 120 but it is expected that by the time they are all in, this number will be more than doubled.

In the grades it is still a matter as conjecture as to the enrollment. The grades appear to be about the same strength as last year with the addition of the six year olds.

There are many changes in the high school this year all of which will work to advantage when once the new system becomes familiar. The regular high school work has been enhanced in value by the addition of the commercial course and this has had the effect of bringing back into school many pupils who had left school entirely. They have returned for the commercial course alone. Then too, there is a great influx of non-resident pupils who have enrolled in high school. This makes the rooms considerably crowded but Superintendent T. L. Pollock expects to take care of it satisfactorily.

Another innovation in the high school is the hour for convening and dismissing school. In the future high school will convene at eight o'clock and will be dismissed at three. This will give the pupils more time in which to prepare for the next day's work without "burning midnight oil." The new system bids fair to be popular.

MONONGAHELA ROAD MATTER IS UNSETTLED

Conditions concerning the improvement of the stretch of road within the confines of New Eagle borough over which there has been so much controversy the past year, is in worse shape now than ever, as a result of a visit of a committee of delegates from Monongahela and New Eagle who on Saturday called upon Samuel Foster, chief engineer of the State Highway department, at his offices in Pittsburg. Those in the party were John Rodeman, president of New Eagle borough council, James H. Abbott chairman of the highways and sewers committee, Joseph Roth, supervisor of roads of Carroll township and Frank R. Colvin represent-

BAD ROADS INTOLERABLE.

"A Schuylkill county judge decides" remarks the Philadelphia Press, "that if the roads are not in good condition it is for the highway officials to show a good reason for it or be punished for the delinquency. The law provides for good roads. The money is usually obtainable and if bad roads persist without any good reason for it someone should be made to answer.

"In the Schuylkill case the local authorities were first complained of and it being shown that the state was under obligation to take care of the particular road, the state highway commissioner and some of his subordinates have been indicated for allowing a State highway to fall into a nearly impassable condition.

"The people want good roads. The dust and mud roads that did poor service in the past can no longer be tolerated. If those whose duty it is to provide good roads do not do so, they should be compelled to perform their duty and justify the failure. If there is no better way to compel action the courts should apply the spurr.

"The Schuylkill county action is illustrative of the growing impatience of the public with rough and impassable highways. This is a wholesome feeling which is destined to change the road system in Pennsylvania and give the state a network of good small roads kept by the force of law and public opinion in first-class condition."

WHAT BRINGS SUCCESS?

A writer in London Everyman objects to Socialist sophistry in its eternal repetition of the dogma that Capital and Labor—always to be headed with big letters—are the only producers of wealth, and proceeds to show that management and organization, no matter how abundant the capital, no matter how abundant the supply of labor, are the twins that are needed to do the work that brings assured success. He shows, says an exchange that while capital can be democratized quite as much as labor, and may be owned by a crowd of small investors, management and organization must remain the monopoly of a gifted few.

But management and organization must have as their coadjator, Enterprise, a genius "that performs miracles because it is a form of religion," and "demands some of the qualities which in their highest form constitute the religious temperament, the visionary enthusiasm, the optimism and confidence which stake everything on a venture, and above all, the theological virtue of faith, a faith beyond reason and beyond calculating prudence. Enterprise is the expression of a strong personality, of irrepressible vitality, and therefore it will best thrive in a state of society which respects personality rather than in a state of society where the people live in a practical state of slavery." This brings one back to the starting post. It is the few after all who will do the thinking for the unthinking many, and verily they will take their reward therefore.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The story of jury service excesses is told in a story related by the Chicago Post.

"Could you tell us how far it is to the post-office?" we asked of the man standing on the railway platform.

"I have no idea," he replied.

"Well, in which direction is it?"

"I have not formed an opinion."

"Can we walk there or should we take a car."

"I could not say."

"There is a post-office here, is there noe?"

"I would not decide that with my present information."

"But every town has a post-office, hasn't it?"

"I have not talked with anybody on the subject."

"Is there anyone around here who can tell us?"

"I have not read any of the newspapers.

"But, man, you surely know whether or not there is a post-office."

"I could not give a decisive answer to that."

"But don't you live here?"

"I have never given the matter any thought."

"Where do you live?"

"I have no mental bias in the matter."

"Great guns, man! You know you're alive, don't you?"

"I should be guided entirely by the evidence."

Here a listened plucked our sleeve smilingly. He took us to one side and said:

"You won't get anything out of him if you quiz all day. That's Pete Hobawot, who's been on so many jury panels it has affected him."

People sitting in the orchestra circle during the presentation of a show some time ago in the Monongahela valley were disturbed by a certain man who was there with a boy.

One of the ushers approached him.

"Don't you like the show?" he asked.

"Yes, indeed," was the reply.

"Then why do you persist in hissing the performers."

"Why m-man alive, I wasn't h-hissing! I was-s-s-simply s-saying to S-S-Sammie that the s-s-snake is s-s-superb."

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

MONONGAHELA ROAD MATTER UNSETTLED

ing the Monongahela Automobile association.

Engineer Foster went over the situation with them and stated that the present situation developed from the refusal of Charles Heslep, then road supervisor for Carroll township, to give the Pittsburg Railways company a double track privilege through the township. This is what first tied up the improvement and it has rested there ever since.

According to the statement of the engineer when Supervisor Heslep took this step, it nullified the contract for the improvement of the road and the result is that there is no chance of the work being resumed. It will be necessary for the citizens and taxpayers to re-petition the state highway department to improve the stretch and this petition will have to go through the various processes of red tape that it passed through some years ago.

This opinion by the engineer caused much consternation among the committee but the climax was reached when he stated that the borough of New Eagle was responsible for any damage that may result from the poor and almost impassable half mile stretch of road which is in controversy.

No action has been taken by the borough as a result of this startling information but is a safe prediction that they will get busy at once in order to put the road in passable shape before the severe weather.

FREDERICKTOWN TIPPLE FINISHED

This week the finishing touches are being put on the new temporary tipple being constructed by the Fredericktown Coal and Coke company at Fredericktown and within a few days the new plant will be running coal.

During the last week work has gone forward very rapidly at the new plant. The siding has practically been completed, the power house constructed and a great deal of other necessary work completed. The entrance to the coal has been made and some coal has already been mined. The temporary tipple will be used while the work of driving the main entry goes forward so that no time will be lost while the big tipple is under way. All the timbers have been cut and placed on the ground for the main tipple.

The new company has made arrangements with the West Penn electric company for power and the machinery for this is expected to arrive within a few days.

TOM B. COWAN TAKES OVER STAR

Thomas B. Cowan of Monessen who operated a motion picture theatre in Monongahela, Monessen and Donora has again entered the theatrical field here by purchasing the Star theatre on Fallowfield avenue. This theatre was formerly owned by Mr. Cowan and enjoyed a successful patronage during his proprietorship. He expects to make some decided changes and will offer Charleroi the best that is obtainable in the way of moving pictures and feature films. He assumes the reins at once and is today greeting old friends and patrons in town.

The new directory publishes a list of subscribers at three county seats, Washington, Waynesburg and Uniontown, in addition to subscribers at all the important places within these three counties.

Keep Your Blood Cool

by Right Kind of Food and Enjoy Hot Weather

It's largely a matter of selecting the hot weather diet with reason.

Summer is Nature's season of activity---seed-time, growing-time, harvest-time---a time of expansion, energy---and Man is influenced to do his part--to put forth greater effort because activity is in the very air.

BUT--caution is necessary to avoid excessive heat from combustion (digestion) of heavy, greasy food, (Nature's way of generating body-heat in winter) in addition to the heat of the summer atmosphere.

GRAPE-NUTS

is the Ideal Food for hot weather because largely predigested (and concentrated) in the making at the factory, it is quickly absorbed, a small quantity affording great endurance with little effort in digesting it.

Grape-Nuts, made of Whole Wheat and Barley, contains all the natural elements of these cereals, including the phosphate of potash grown in the grain for rebuilding waste tissues, especially of brains and nerves.

Try for breakfast, lunch or supper:

A Little Fruit; Saucer of Grape-Nuts and Cream; A Soft Boiled Egg; Slice of Crisp Toast, and a Cup of Postum, hot or iced with sugar and lemon.

Surprising how cool, yet full of health, energy and "go" one feels on such a meal no matter what the weather

ENROLLMENT FIGURES SHOW THE REPUBLICANS STRONG IN COUNTY

Registration Tabulation Just Completed Give G. O. P. Total of 11,-140 Votes

SURPRISE IN CHARLEROI

Republican Vote Will be Heavy---Washington Party Vote Will be Light--"No Choice" 551

Republicans will be particularly strong in the county and in the borough at the primaries a week from tomorrow. The county commissioners have just completed the tabulation of the party enrollment returns and registry assessment of the voters of Washington county, including all the precincts except those of the city of Monongahela, which has personal registration and which will not be completed until September 13.

Some surprises are shown. The registration shows there are 2,022 votes in Charleroi, though there are 551 of these who will hardly be given a chance to vote for anything except the candidates for judge of the superior court. In their registration their party preference is given as "no choice."

In this borough there are 844 Republicans and 443 Democrats, while the Washington party, which was thought strong, shows a total registration in the six precincts of only 133. Socialists registered number 42 and Prohibitionists 9. The following is a table showing the registration by precincts. In the table R is for Republican, D for Democrat, W. for Washington and so forth. Nc is for no choice.

	R	D	W	S	P	Nc
Charleroi 1st ..	237	130	34	2	1	103
Charleroi 2nd ..	135	77	30	3	1	60
Charleroi 3rd ..	80	40	16	15	4	67
Charleroi 4th ..	245	91	12	9		77
Charleroi 5th ..	78	51	20	4	1	142
Charleroi 6th ..	69	54	21	9	2	102
Total	844	443	133	42	9	551

Not counting the "no choice" voters there are 1,471 voters registered by party. However it is generally expected that the borough vote will be light in spite of the fact that there will be some hot fights on.

With the exceptions noted at Monongahela the total county registration is 29,025 and with the missing ones in the total will run over 30,000 or about double the vote which is usually polled at an off year election.

The Republicans have a total enrollment of 11,140, the Democrats of 5,687 the Washington party of 2,-049, the Socialists of 1,201, the Prohibitionists of 265, while 8,683 failed to designate any choice. All the party leaders claim to be satisfied with the result of theenrollment.

The Republican leaders say that it marks a return of the voters to the old party. The Democratic registered about the average vote cast for the party's candidates at the last election, which is good. The Washington party vote is about 40 per cent of the vote cast for the different candidates on its ticket last fall. The Socialists enrolled about 50 per cent and the Prohibitionists from 33 to 50 per cent.

FREE METHODISTS OPEN CAMPMEETING

Good Sized Crowd Present at First Session at Playgrounds---Rev. A. D. Zahnizer Preaches First Sermon Sunday Afternoon

A good attendance marked the two opening sessions of the Free Methodist Evangelistic services on Sunday. The large tent erected at the Charleroi Playgrounds, in Crest avenue, was well filled at both the afternoon and evening sessions and those who attended heard two excellent sermons.

Rev. A. D. Zahnizer, confererke evangelist of the Free Methodist denomination is in charge of the services and will occupy the pulpit each evening unless otherwise arranged. He comes to Charleroi well prepared to take charge of the exercises and his initial appearance was most pleasing. At the Sunday evening service he preached on "The Great Salvation" taking his text from Hebrew" how shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation."

The services are under the direction of the congregation of the Free Methodist church at Belle Vernon of which Rev. R. N. Large is pastor. There is no church of this denomination in Charleroi and thus this place is within the pastorial district of the Belle Vernon church. The evangelistic services were arranged for Charleroi owing to the fact that it is centrally located and that there is a broad field here in which to work. A cordial invitation to the pastors and members of the various other churches i sextended to attend the meetings.

Services will be held in the tent each evening at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

FAMOUS PLAYERS BOOKED FOR COYLE DURING OCTOBER

Manager R. S. Coyle of the Coyle theatre has secured the booking of the Famous Players' picture "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" in which Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, one of America's most gifted actresses, will appear. The play is one of Mrs. Fiske's greatest successes. The dates for the production of the Famous Players' film will be October 6 and 7, two days.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is being produced for motion pictures under the direction of Daniel Frohman, and the production is most pretentious and elaborate. The story "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is one of the most heart interest stories ever told either in stage or moving picture drama, having to do with real life. The story is a presentation of a woman's pitiful career, an immortal epic of sorrow.

The Famous Players' Film company is producing a number of dramas by some of the world's most famous actresses, and that to be presented at the Coyle is only one of several.

CONEY ISLAND SHOWS COMING AS A BENEFIT

With ten attractions, including a balloon ascension and what is described a death-defying cycle whirl, the Coney Island shows will open today on the carnival grounds at the opposite end of the Monessen-Charleroi bridge, for the benefit of the North Charleroi Fire department. The show is owned and conducted by Walter Rockwell, of North Charleroi, who is an experienced carnival man, and Santalucia, an Italian, who is the bandmaster and who has charge of some of the productions. The shows are all carefully picked for their attractiveness.

The paid attractions will be Fowler's Animal show, which will include exhibitions of all kinds of animals, including freaks and deformed animals; the old plantation; Snyder's vaudeville show; Fowler's snake show; Santalucia's jumping horse carousal and Rockwell's ferris wheel.

There will be a woman balloonist who will make ascensions every evening at 6:30 o'clock. She is known as Millie Reno. The balloon that she will use has never been used before.

The cycler who will perform the cycle whirl is known as Dare Devil Speedo. His act is one of the latest and one of the best. He performs in a saucer shaped track.

Walter Rockwell is the manager of the company. They will exhibit all week at the Rostraver grounds and then will leave on an extensive trip. There are about 100 people connected with the company, and every show, according to Mr. Rockwell, is a clean show.

The band is the Royal Italian band composed of about a dozen pieces. All the members of the band are real musicians.

FOX GIRL TELLS OF TRAGEDY

Rices Landing 12-Year Old Didn't Know She Was Hurt

THOMAS QUARRELSOME

Bertha Fox, the 12-year-old victim of the Rices Landing tragedy in the Oliver Price homestead on the night of September 1, which cost the life of her grandmother, Mrs. Oliver Price and resulted in the girl being terribly injured about the head, gave the first authentic statement of the tragedy, Sunday as she lay on her bed in the West Penn Hospital, where according now to the doctors, she has a favorable chance for recovery. The child is racked with severe headaches and it is only at intervals that she is able to think and speak clearly.

"Grandpa left the night before with papa," she said. "He went over to his house to spend the night, so he could take the first train to Pittsburg in the morning. Grandma and I were alone except Walter Thomas, our hired man. Grandma and I slept in one bed and Walter slept in another room.

"When I awoke in the morning I laid in bed for a while with my eyes shut. Then I pushed gradma so she would awake to button my dress for school. She did not move and when I looked at her she was covered with blood. I knew then she was dead. I crawled over her and ran out into the yard to get Fanny, my horse and tell papa what had happened. I couldn't find her. Then I ran back into the house where grandma was and saw that the bed quilt was burning. There was a lamp under the bed and I guess when I crawled over grandma I was in such a hurry that I upset it. I put the fire out with my hands and then ran out into the yard again. I couldn't see Thomas any place.

"Then I met Jennie Black and Cal Long coming along the road by the house. They live about a mile away and I told them that grandma had been killed. They told me I was hurt but I said that was the blood from grandma. They started to run home to telephone and tell papa and mamma what had happened. I lay down on the ground and I guess I fell asleep for I didn't remember anything until I saw papa bending over me and then he was taking me to the station. He told me I was hurt."

When asked whether Thomas the hired man, hit her, Bertha said: "I don't know, because I didn't know I was hurt and nobody was around at the time. Thomas used to get mad at times. He didn't like me. Thomas was mad the night before because I couldn't help milk the cows. Thomas milked two cows and I milked the other one. My fingers were worn to the quick and I couldn't milk my cow that night and Thomas got mad. Grandpa told him he would have to milk the three cows and that made him worse."

Mrs. V. P. Stewart will show a distinctive line of fall hats at her Millinery opening Saturday September 13th, 417 Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, Pa. 47-t4

Armory Work Progressing

New Monongahela Str cture to be Ready Soon For Occupancy

The work on the new state armory at Monongahela is rapidly nearing completion and within a few weeks the last task will be done and the handsome structure will be ready for occupancy by Monongahela's citizen soldiery. On Wednesday of last week General A. J. Logan of Pittsburg, chairman of the state armory board visited Monongahela and went over the building. His visit resulted in an extra number of men being put to work on the job and all is now activity in that section. The new armory is a model structure in every respect and is a fitting appreciation of the military organization representing the sister town.

CHURCH OBSERVE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

With Bishop Thomas B. Neely, of Philadelphia, in the pulpit, the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Belle Vernon Methodist Episcopal church was celebrated on Sunday. The services were appropriate for the occasion.

Five years ago the handsome $30,-000 house of worship was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. Bishop John F. Berry, of Buffalo, N. Y., preaching the dedicatory sermon. Since that time the congregation has labored long and earnestly to wipe out the church debt and so successful has been their effort that all that remained yesterday of the mortgage on the church and parsonage properties was $5,000. At the services Sunday $4,200 of this amount was subscribed and it is expected by the end of the present week to wipe out the entire mortgage leaving both properties free from all encumbrance.

Rev. R. B. Mansell, D. D. is the pastor of the church.

Surprising Attendance Noted at Opening of School

CROWDING NECESSARY

Sixty Pupils Enroll as Students in the New Commercial Department

With two hundred enrolled the first day and prospects of quite a number yet to come, the high school department of the Charleroi public schools has surpassed all previous records for attendance opening today under the most favorable auspices. The new commercial course which is being inaugurated this year is the cause of the extraordinary enrollment, there being about 60 pupils who entered this morning to take this course. Last year the high school was something over 120 but it is expected that by the time they are all in, this number will be more than doubled.

In the grades it is still a matter as conjecture as to the enrollment. The grades appear to be about the same strength as last year with the addition of the six year olds.

There are many changes in the high school this year all of which will work to advantage when once the new system becomes familiar. The regular high school work has been enhanced in value by the addition of the commercial course and this has had the effect of bringing back into school many pupils who had left school entirely. They have returned for the commercial course alone. Then too, there is a great influx of non-resident pupils who have enrolled in high school. This makes the rooms considerably crowded but Superintendent T. L. Pollock expects to take care of it satisfactorily.

Another innovation in the high school is the hour for convening and dismissing school. In the future high school will convene at eight o'clock and will be dismissed at three. This will give the pupils more time in which to prepare for the next day's work without "burning midnight oil." The new system bids fair to be popular.

MONONGAHELA ROAD MATTER IS UNSETTLED

Conditions concerning the improvement of the stretch of road within the confines of New Eagle borough over which there has been so much controversy the past year, is in worse shape now than ever, as a result of a visit of a committee of delegates from Monongahela and New Eagle who on Saturday called upon Samuel Foster, chief engineer of the State Highway department, at his offices in Pittsburg. Those in the party were John Rodeman, president of New Eagle borough council, James H. Abbott chairman of the highways and sewers committee, Joseph Roth, supervisor of roads of Carroll township and Frank R. Colvin represent-

BAD ROADS INTOLERABLE.

"A Schuylkill county judge decides" remarks the Philadelphia Press, "that if the roads are not in good condition it is for the highway officials to show a good reason for it or be punished for the delinquency. The law provides for good roads. The money is usually obtainable and if bad roads persist without any good reason for it someone should be made to answer.

"In the Schuylkill case the local authorities were first complained of and it being shown that the state was under obligation to take care of the particular road, the state highway commissioner and some of his subordinates have been indicated for allowing a State highway to fall into a nearly impassable condition.

"The people want good roads. The dust and mud roads that did poor service in the past can no longer be tolerated. If those whose duty it is to provide good roads do not do so, they should be compelled to perform their duty and justify the failure. If there is no better way to compel action the courts should apply the spurr.

"The Schuylkill county action is illustrative of the growing impatience of the public with rough and impassable highways. This is a wholesome feeling which is destined to change the road system in Pennsylvania and give the state a network of good small roads kept by the force of law and public opinion in first-class condition."

WHAT BRINGS SUCCESS?

A writer in London Everyman objects to Socialist sophistry in its eternal repetition of the dogma that Capital and Labor—always to be headed with big letters—are the only producers of wealth, and proceeds to show that management and organization, no matter how abundant the capital, no matter how abundant the supply of labor, are the twins that are needed to do the work that brings assured success. He shows, says an exchange that while capital can be democratized quite as much as labor, and may be owned by a crowd of small investors, management and organization must remain the monopoly of a gifted few.

But management and organization must have as their coadjutor, Enterprise, a genius "that performs miracles because it is a form of religion." and "demands some of the qualities which in their highest form constitute the religious temperament, the visionary enthusiasm, the optimism and confidence which stake everything on a venture, and above all, the theological virtue of faith, a faith beyond reason and beyond calculating prudence. Enterprise is the expression of a strong personality, of irrepressible vitality, and therefore it will best thrive in a state of society which respects personality rather than in a state of society where the people live in a practical state of slavery." This brings one back to the starting post. It is the few after all who will do the thinking for the unthinking many, and verily they will take their reward therefore.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The story of jury service excesses is told in a story related by the Chicago Post.

"Could you tell us how far it is to the post-office?" we asked of the man standing on the railway platform.

"I have no idea," he replied.

"Well, in which direction is it?"

"I have not formed an opinion."

"Can we walk there or should we take a car."

"I could not say."

"There is a post-office here, is there noe?"

"I would not decide that with my present information."

"But every town has a post-office, hasn't it?"

"I have not talked with anybody on the subject."

"Is there anyone around here who can tell us?"

"I have not read any of the newspapers.

"But, man, you surely know whether or not there is a post-office."

"I could not give a decisive answer to that."

"But don't you live here?"

"I have never given the matter any thought."

"Where do you live?"

"I have no mental bias in the matter."

"Great guns, man! You know you're alive, don't you?"

"I should be guided entirely by the evidence."

Here a listened plucked our sleeve smilingly. He took us to one side and said:

"You won't get anything out of him if you quiz all day. That's Pete Hobawat, who's been on so many jury panels it has affected him."

People sitting in the orchestra circle during the presentation of a show some time ago in the Monongahela valley were disturbed by a certain man who was there with a boy.

One of the ushers approached him.

"Don't you like the show?" he asked.

"Yes, indeed!" was the reply.

"Then why do you persist in hissing the performers.

"Why m-man alive, I wasn't h-hissing! I w-was s-s-simply s-saying to S-s-Sammie that the s-singing is s-s-superb."

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

ing the Monongahela Automobile association.

Engineer Foster went over the situation with them and stated that the present situation developed from the refusal of Charles Heslep, then road supervisor for Carroll township, to give the Pittsburg Railways company a double track privilege through the township. This is what first tied up the improvement and it has rested there ever since.

According to the statement of the engineer when Supervisor Heslep took this step, it nullified the contract for the improvement of the road and the result is that there is no chance of the work being resumed. It will be necessary for the citizens and taxpayers to re-petition the state highway department to improve the stretch and this petition will have to go through the various processes of red tape that it passed through some years ago.

This opinion by the engineer caused much consternation among the committee but the climax was reached when he stated that the borough of New Eagle was responsible for any damage that may result from the poor and almost impassable half mile stretch of road which is in controversy.

No action has been taken by the borough as a result of this startling information but is a safe prediction that they will get busy at once in order to put the road in passable shape before the severe weather.

FREDERICKTOWN TIPPLE FINISHED

This week the finishing touches are being put on the new temporary tipple being constructed by the Fredericktown Coal and Coke company at Fredericktown and within a few days the new plant will be running coal.

During the last week work has gone forward very rapidly at the new plant. The siding has practically been completed, the power house constructed and a great deal of other necessary work completed. The entrance to the coal has been made and some coal has already been mined. The temporary tipple will be used while the work of driving the main entry goes forward so that no time will be lost while the big tipple is under way. All the timbers have been cut and placed on the ground for the main tipple.

The new company has made arrangements with the West Penn electric company for power and the machinery for this is expected to arrive within a few days.

TOM B. COWAN TAKES OVER STAR

Thomas B. Cowan of Monessen who operated motion picture theatres in Monongahela, Monessen and Donora has again entered the theatrical field here by purchasing the Star theatre on Fallowfield avenue. This theatre was formerly owned by Mr. Cowan and enjoyed a successful patronage during his proprietorship. He expects to make some decided changes and will offer Charleroi the best that is obtainable in the way of moving pictures and feature films. He assumes the reins at once and is today greeting old friends and patrons in town.

BELL TELEPHONE DIRECTORY ISSUED

New telephone directories are being issued by the Bell Telephone system, and those for the local subscribers of the Central District Telephone company are more complete in every respect than ever before. Manager F. B. Bunwell and his local force are engaged in the work of distribution.

The new directory is more of a four county directory than a local directory, and it gives the names of subscribers at many more places than the old one did. The new directory publishes a list of subscribers at three county seats, Washington, Waynesburg and Uniontown, in addition to subscribers at all the important places within these three counties.

Keep Your Blood Cool

by Right Kind of Food and Enjoy Hot Weather

It's largely a matter of selecting the hot weather diet with reason.

Summer is Nature's season of activity---seed-time, growing-time, harvest-time---a time of expansion, energy---and Man is influenced to do his part--to put forth greatereffort because activity is in the very air.

BUT--caution is necessary to avoid excessive heat from combustion (digestion) of heavy, greasy food, (Nature's way of generating body-heat in winter) in addition to the heat of the summer atmosphere.

GRAPE-NUTS

is the Ideal Food for hot weather because largely predigested (and concentrated) in the making at the factory, it is quickly absorbed, a small quantity affording great endurance with little effort in digesting it.

Grape-Nuts, made of Whole Wheat and Barley, contains all the natural elements of these cereals, including the phosphate of potash grown in the grain for rebuilding waste tissues, especially of brains and nerves.

Try for breakfast, lunch or supper:

A Little Fruit; Saucer of Grape-Nuts and Cream; A Soft Boiled Egg; Slice of Crisp Toast, and a Cup of Postum, hot--or iced with sugar and lemon.

Surprising how cool, yet full of health, energy and "go" one feels on such a meal no matter what the weather
